Dear Gentlemen,

The issue of labeling irradiated foods prompts us to write to you. As consumers, we want the labels on irradiated foods prominently displayed. We don't want to get out a magnifying glass to locate the irradiation statement buried somewhere deep within the ingredient list or hidden elsewhere on the label.

We strongly prefer that foods not be irradiated at all, but if it's done please put the labels in a prominate place where we can easily see them.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

LeRoy Waszak
